Milliman named top-10 investment site for mobile users

ThinkAdvisor recognizes Milliman mobile product for its security and navigation

Seattle – Nov. 24, 2014, – Milliman, Inc., a premier global consulting and actuarial firm, has been recognized as one of ThinkAdvisor’s “10 Best Investing Sites for Mobile Users,” in recognition of the excellent mobile site provided to defined contribution plan participants. The research, conducted by the Boston-based firm Dalbar, included 46 financial services company sites and considered 11 distinct evaluation categories.

“We are constantly working to innovate our mobile platform so that plan participants have the retirement information they need whenever they need it,” said Lance Burma, Milliman Employee Benefits Practice Director. “This recognition affirms several of our primary development priorities, including our emphasis on security and ease-of-use.”

To quote from the ThinkAdvisor analysis: “The defined contribution firm stood out in both security and navigation. A top score in that latter area means unobtrusive menus, ease in getting back to the home page, location clarity, balanced use of controls and logical placement of site elements.”

Milliman’s recent mobile site development priorities include updated menus, more flexibility for plan participants, improved charts and exhibits, and, coming soon, a text messaging option and login retrieval functionality.
