Milliman launches enhanced defined contribution participant website

Seattle – July 12th, 2016 – Milliman, Inc., a premier global employee benefits consulting and actuarial firm, today announced the launch of its latest in a series of website enhancements for its defined contribution clients and their plan participants.

New features on MillimanBenefits.com include an interactive “It’s Your Move” dashboard with tools that support successful retirement behaviors, such as saving enough to get the company match, diversifying investments, and utilizing automatic increase and automatic rebalance features – all with a refreshed look and feel. The site enhancements build on Milliman’s robust PlanAhead for Retirement® projection tool, educational Financial Resources Center, and award-winning mobile application.

“Our consultants are excited to offer these new features to our clients. More than ever, our clients understand that it’s important to encourage constructive behavior in this age when too many people are not saving enough for retirement,” says Jeff Budin, Milliman’s global employee benefits practice leader. “From a behavioral finance perspective, it’s helpful to participants to see a list of items they are doing well next to some additional actions they could take to strengthen their account with the simple click of a mouse.”
